

2017 ECT Ve List

Ve #	Ve	Ve Description	Manager	Ritual Day & Time	Comments
1	Odin	A ve dedicated to Odin	Josh Rood & Devin Cool	Friday 7:00 pm	The blót to Odin will focus on his gift of wisdom, creativity, and art to the world of men. You do not need to bring an offering to the blót. A cask of beer will be sacrificed on behalf of the community and burned. Bring your own drink so that you can toast to Odin as no horn will be passed. There will be a basket and a bowl in the ve all week for personal offerings to be given to Odin and burned in the Main Blót at the end of the week.
2	Thor	A ve dedicated to Thor	Denise Bowen & Josh Rood	Daily Processional at Noon	There will be noon processions, Thursday-Saturday. Offerings can be made at any time.
3	Frigga	A ve for Frigga, Queen of the gods, wife of Odin mother to Baldur, keeper of secrets, the goddess of the household	Jo Spinks	Friday 1:30 pm	There will be bits of wool to take for offerings.
4	Freya	A ve dedicated to Freya	Patricia Lafayllve & Nichelle Weinberg	None
5	Frey	A ve dedicated to Frey	Kari Barber	None	No weapons
6	Forseti	A ve dedicated to Forseti, where all strife is settled.	Glitnir Kindred	None
7	Njord	A ve to honor Njord, the god of prosperity, seafarers, and coastal waterways.	Jeff Spinks	Friday 2:30 pm	Njord ritual will follow directly after Frigga ritual.
8	Hel	A ve for working with the Guardian of the Dead and those who live on within the walls of her home.	Diane & John Richardson, Kurt Hohmann	Friday 11:00 pm	Food and drink offerings are discouraged; instead we ask for messages to be delivered to Her denizens.
9	Heimdall	A ve dedicated to Heimdall	Erika Palmer-Conolly	Friday 11:00 am	No weapons
10	Eir	A ve for Eir, health and well-being as well as pregnancy and childbirth.	Cat Burke & Sarah Castrovinci	Thursday 3:00 pm	Medicinal herbs, plants, as well as home remedies. I will be bringing copies of the recipes and home remedies that were shared by the community from two years ago.
11	Sunna	A ve for Sunna, elf-disc, golden wheel of day; bringer of warmth and light.	Jesseca Trainham	None
12	Skadi	A ve to honor the Öndurdís, in thanks for the blessings she bestows upon the hunters who honor her, and in remembrance of the quarry taken home from the wilderness to feed our kith and kin.	Joe Mandato	Thursday 7:30 pm	Offerings of meat, bone, hide, feather and fur from any ethically hunted game animal are welcome. There will also be an offering bowl for gifts to the animals who gave their lives so others could eat - acorns, beech nuts, corn, seeds - anything that a game animal might consume. Any perishable offerings will be sacrificed on a nightly basis.
13	Loki	A ve to honor Loki in his role as brother and traveling companion.	Erika Palmer-Conolly	Friday 9:00 am	Liquid offerings only. There will be a bowl for this and it will be emptied.  The ritual is a three round blot. Each round involves something different. Please bring a pen - paper will be provided - and your best joke. If you don't have a joke, one will be provided for you. The ritual host can not guarantee that the joke provided won't be terrible. You have been warned.

14	Ancestors	A ve for remembrance and telling stories about your ancestors and loved ones.	Sara Perrault	Thursday 2:00 pm	Feel free to make an entry in the journal about any of your ancestors, their deeds, or inscriptions to them. The journal will be sealed up each night to prevent moisture retention from the evening's dew. Please leave any offerings to be burnt in the basket. Any offerings left in the bowl will be libated at the end of each day. Please do not leave food offerings in the basket to prevent attracting animals and insects. Any items you wish to add to the altar, but plan to return home with, are left at your own risk.
15	Landvættir	A ve to honor the local Landvættir and Wights	Stephanie Conrod & Ben Opel	None	Biodegradable offerings or one's made of natural/unrefined materials only (e.g. wood is okay, paper is not). Liquid or food offerings encouraged, especially grains, porridge, butter, cream, eggs, nuts, honey, fruits & vegetables, and berries. Offerings of food and liquid will be gifted to the land on a daily basis. Please do not bring into the Landvættir's ve space - fire, weapons, forged iron/steel, and electronic/manmade devices/objects (e.g. a phone, a wallet) unless it is for medical/mobility support (e.g. insulin pump, wheelchair). There will be no official ve ritual, but folks can use the space for such when it's convenient.
16	Regin Ve	A ve for all Gods, Goddesses and holy wights not otherwise represented.	Denise Bowen	Thursday 4:00 pm	Please place food offerings in the provided container and make sure it's closed after. Feel free to hold your own rituals in this ve, any time there is not an official ritual scheduled here. Please contact Denise Bowen about the ve.

All Ves are located in the lower field.***

*Landvaettir ve is in woods, entrance to path will be marked. Look for it behind the Regin ve.
 All ves are open for personal communing anytime there is not an official ve ritual being conducted. Please leave food offerings in closed containers or save for just before main ritual. Please do not leave unattended candles, or permit anything plastic/toxic to be burned as an offering.
